

Operational leadership, on a fractional basis

For home service companies that outgrew owner-run chaos

Framework OPS brings COO-level operations to home service companies that have outgrown running everything through the owner but aren't ready for a full-time C-suite hire. The difference: this is lived operator experience, not borrowed theory. Chance Peare is a sitting COO of a large roofing company — he speaks job costing, callbacks, draw schedules, and DSO because he runs them daily.

WHAT WE FIX

- Profit & job costing — know which jobs actually make money.
- Owner as bottleneck — move decisions off the owner's desk.
- Cash flow — 13-week visibility so payroll is never a near-miss.
- Process & SOPs — get the business out of people's heads.
- KPIs & accountability — run on numbers, not gut and scorecards.
- Scheduling & dispatch — stop idle and double-booked crews.
- Tech stack & automation — use what you pay for; automate the rest.
- Lead response — stop leads going cold and wasting ad spend.

HOW WE WORK

- Diagnose first. Every engagement starts with an operational assessment — no guessing, no generic playbook.
- Systems over heroics. We build repeatable processes you own, not dependency on us.
- AI & automation as leverage. Modern tools to do more with the headcount you have.
- Operator language. We've run these businesses. We speak the trade.

WAYS TO ENGAGE

1 · START

OPS Assessment

$997 · 2 wks. Full operational diagnostic + 90-day roadmap. The foot in the door — credits to a retainer if you go ongoing.

2 · BUILD

Productized Sprints

Fixed scope, 2–4 wks. Document SOPs, ship automations, or build a 90-day roadmap. No open-ended commitments.

3 · LEAD

Fractional COO Retainer

Ongoing operational leadership, scoped to your stage after the diagnostic. We recommend one tier — never a menu to puzzle over.

WHO WE SERVE

Owner-operated home service companies doing $2M–$20M (sweet spot $2M–$8M): roofing, HVAC, plumbing, electrical,
